

It is so gratifying to read the restaurant critics of the future and to see them involving all the five senses in their every bite – including the sound of silence! I love it.

Fay Maschler
Restaurant Critic
London Evening Standard

Rachel Earnshaw
Head Teacher
Soho Parish Primary School

The Soho Food Feast is an amazing event which brings together all sections of the community to celebrate great food and support the children of Soho by raising much needed funds for our unique “village” primary school.

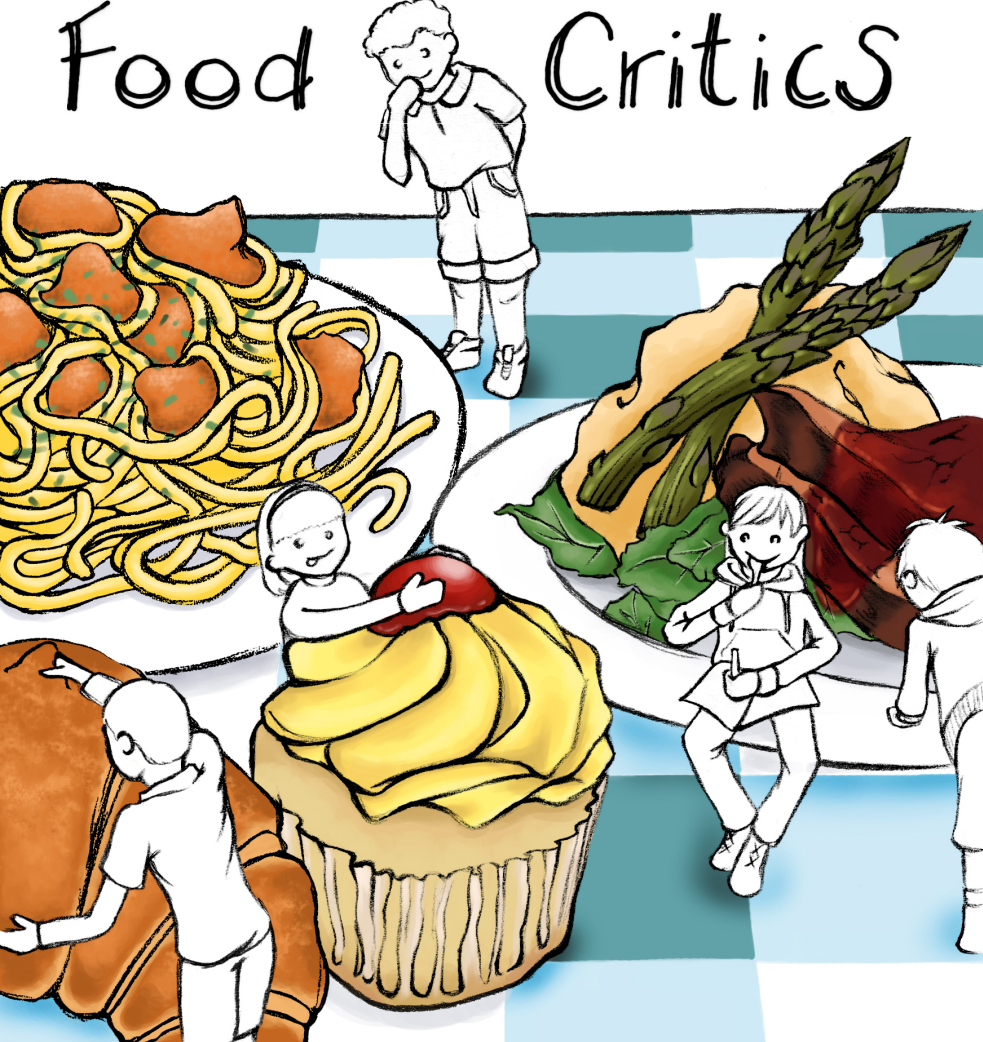

In this booklet you will find the children’s responses to some of the incredible tastes which were on offer at this year’s Food Feast. We are very grateful to all the restaurants who so generously supported the event, and to all the budding junior food critics of Soho for their enthusiasm in sampling new dishes and describing their experiences.

Soho Food Feast
Supporting Soho Parish Primary School

The Reviews

We Are All Food Critics

What does it taste like?

What does it sound like?

What does it feel like?

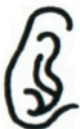

Strawberries are tangy and fruity. The cream soft and mingels with the cheesy taste of the cake. The mix between Strawberry and cheese is ~~the~~ ~~extra~~ excisid.

Silently Appetizing

thick and creamy slightly dense and ~~heavy~~ ddlopy.

What does it
taste like?

What does it
sound like?

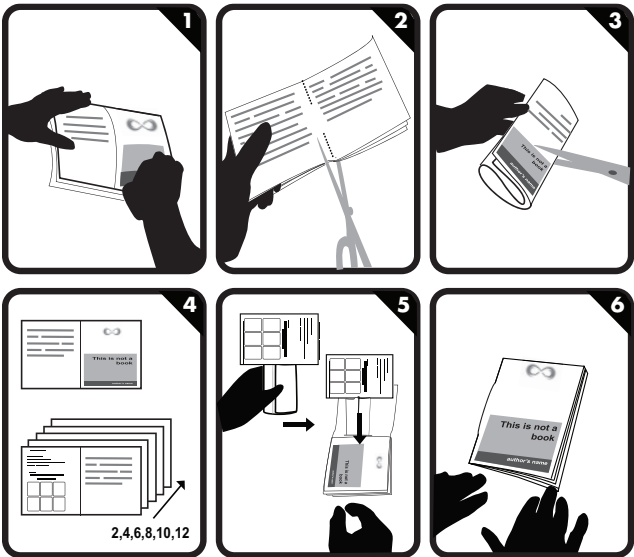

What does it
feel like?

Soho Food Feast
We Are All Food Critics : The Reviews

Children of Soho Parish Primary School
2012-07-05 & CC BY-NC-SA Proboscis 2012
Published by Proboscis for Soho Parish Primary School
Children's Food Reviews from the Soho Food Feast Forewords by Rachel Earnshaw & Fay Maschler.
Illustrated by Mandy Tang. Photos by Stefan Kueppers.
Designed by Giles Lane

made with bookleteer.com from proboscis

<http://bkltr.it/LRDpzO>

We Are All Food Critics

Introduced by Fay Maschler Restaurant Critic of the London Evening Standard
And if you do, you are a food critic.
Yeuch! You might say Yum!
When something to eat is put in front of you, you might say

We are all food critics. Every day of our lives since we must eat in order to carry on. As with any subject the more you think about it, the more interesting it becomes.
I got my job on the London Evening Standard by winning a competition that was held long before you were born. I have stayed in the job for years and years because it is a very nice way of earning a living and taking out friends, but also because food changes all the time. What we were enjoying 20 years ago is surprisingly different from how we eat today. Ingredients that once seemed exotic now seem ordinary. Fast food goes faster and the sort of slow cooking that used to be made at home is these days served in fashionable restaurants.

Boo! chili chicken Soothed by the crisp, sweet Pate chips. Warning please eat with water

What does it
taste like?

chrisp, Smooth sound

What does it
sound like?

Soft, Succulent, and Sticky chicken, crunchy rough chips

What does it
feel like?

Chef Name: Sweet Mouth Food Critic(s): Lil & Violet factory

What is the dish called?

Red velvet cake

What does it
look like?

Red with cream coloured icing on top

What does it
smell like?

Cream cheese.
'Weird yet wonderful'

Pak Choi: a Chinese vegetable it has a nice essence

What does it
smell like?

good presentation

What does it
look like?

Udon Noodle with miso soup

What is the dish called?

Food Critic(s): Eggo & Kwareze

Chef Name: Koya

HOW TO JUDGE FOOD

Gobbling something quickly without noticing the taste or texture is an insult to food – and to the person who has prepared it. Even if that is you.

Everyone has their favourite dishes but it is important to experiment and every few days try something new, even if only with a fairy bite.

It is much more enjoyable (and better for health) to eat with thoughtfulness and use all five senses. These are sight, smell, touch, taste, hearing.

When trying any food think about how it – LOOKS – does it tempt you to try it?
SMELLS – is it familiar, strange, appealing, off-putting?
FEELS – is the texture what you would expect and what you like?

TASTES – is it surprisingly sweet, sharp, salty, weird?
SOUNDS – does it crackle if crisp, sigh if soft?

When describing the food you try, think beyond words like lovely, horrid, tasty, tasteless. Try to paint a picture in words of what you are thinking. So instead of saying something is hot (from chillies) you might say it is as hot as a volcano, if it is chewy, as chewy as knicker elastic, if it is disappointing, as disappointing as finding no presents under the tree at Christmas.

And so on. Let go. Express yourself. And try something you have never tried before.

I ate everything!!!

fizzy salty salty wild lemony sweet-

What does it
taste like?

crunchy

What does it
sound like?

mouth drying rough salty

What does it
feel like?

Chef Name: Cabana

Food Critic(s): Remy + Jonah

What is the dish called?

Spicy chicken and chips

What does it
look like?

nice crisp chicken slightly brown with a side of Sweet Potato chips

What does it
smell like?

BBQ chicken with a slight Tang of chilli.

VINEGAR + FISH
SALTY + PEPPERY

What does it
smell like?

SPOOKY + CURLY

What does it
look like?

OCTOPUS WITH POTATO
+ CAPERS

What is the dish called?

BETTY
+
JONASMIN

Food Critic(s):

BKELA
FINA

Chef Name:

What does it
feel like?

Slimy like a liquid

What does it sound like?

Silent (vegetable is crunchy)

What does it
taste like?

It tastes like a adon that has been cared with love
Soft and Slippery

Tastes & like spicy rice with pork and spinach.

What does it
taste like?

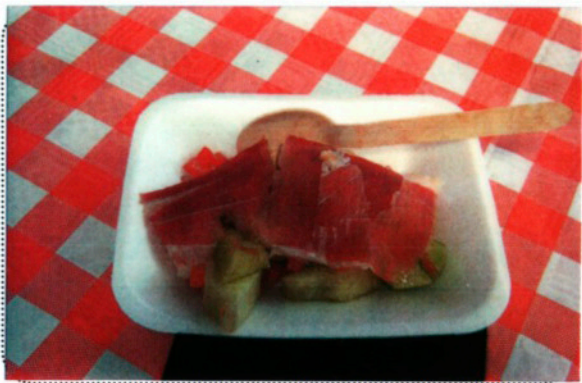

It sounds plain.

What does it
sound like?

it feels bumpy.

What does it
feel like?

Chef Name: Brwisa

Food Critic(s): CLARA

What is the dish called?

Tapas

What does it
look like?

green and appetizing also delicious and yummy

What does it
smell like?

good, funny, fresh and wild very chocolatey, oily

What does it
smell like?

Ex'ting, look like christmas in off

What does it
look like?

Dark chocolate cookie

What is the
dish called?

Chef Name: Gail Bakery
Food Critic(s): Jonah, Lil'bo

What does it
feel like?

SQUIDAY + BUMPY SOFT

What does it
sound like?

Nothing

What does it
taste like?

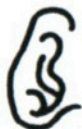

CHewy! BUT Yummy!
SALTY RUBBERY
LIKE CALAMARI OILY
THE POTATO WAS LOVELY!
IT WAS FLUFFY + OILY

It tastes great. when you bite into it all the juices leak out on to your tongue. The bun is soft and infused with the juices of the burger. ~~not~~ but the flavor is better like rad chewy as it is cooked care this. The juices taste just like smoke just a little bit lighter. 10/10

It feels oily and soft (the bun) soft and wet/dry (the burger)

What does it taste like?

What does it sound like?

What does it feel like?

Chef Name: PITSTOP

Food Critic(s): RYAN

CAFE

What is the dish called?

DOUBLE COOKED pork

What does it look like?

It looks like Soya Sauce on rice with pork.

What does it smell like?

It smells like rice.

chocolate with hint of smutty raspberry.

A coco brown, apatizing blood raspberries with chocolate cluster of popping candy.

Chocolate Mouse with the popping candy

What does it smell like?

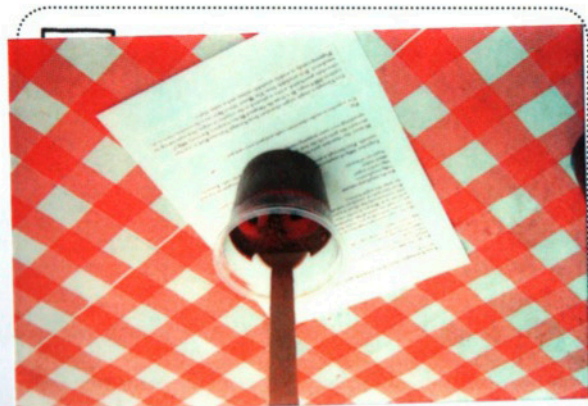

What does it look like?

What is the dish called?

Chef Name: The Ivy

Food Critic(s): Anna, Aggie, Issy, Hannah

What does it feel like?

Crunchy and soft, moist

What does it sound like?

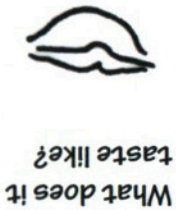

crackles when pulled apart

What does it taste like?

chocolate. Wild but nice at the same time I think it is a 8.5 out of 10

It tastes good. It is not sweet. It is salty.

What does it taste like?

If you touch the roll it makes a rustling noise.

What does it sound like?

The roll feels slimy & flat. It is warm. The celeriac feels wet. The pastry can be peeled off.

What does it feel like?

Chef Name: Byron

Food Critic(s): ISIDORE

What is the dish called?

MWI BURGERS

What does it look like?

What does it smell like?

Shiny bun with the meat juices leaking out of the burger. Red on the inside. (Rare cooked) Flour on the bottom of bun.

Smells smokey and meaty. Just like a barbaque. The bun smells oily.

~~Choco~~ Strawberry Cheesecake
A doolopy mixture of red and cream colours. Messie but extremely nice.
Fruity and creamy but a kind of basil and cinnamon.

What does it smell like?

What does it look like?

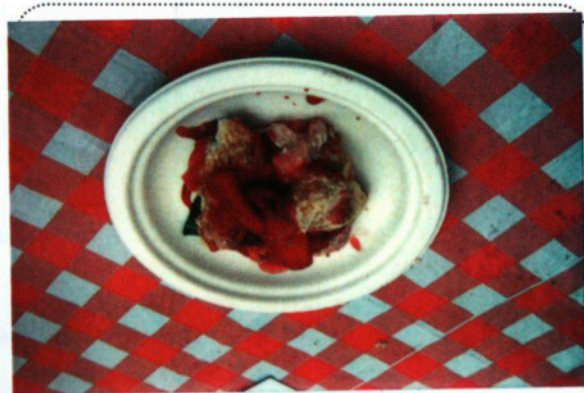

What is the dish called?

Food Critic(s): Anna, Aggie, Issy and Hannah and Leanne

Chef Name: Gooch

Chef Name:

What does it feel like?

Smooth and thick paste.

What does it sound like?

it makes popping sounds and gloopy.

What does it taste like?

Its a delicious blend of chocolate and ~~raspberry~~ raspberry. The popping ~~and~~ candy adds to the already rich and luscious mixture. Very addictive pudding which ~~for~~ fills you up after a meal.